

Finding Your Mission

today's issue: What is your mission

—>.

1. mission (人生的) 使命、任務、大使館

a. mission [ˈmɪʃən] (n.) (人生的) 使命、任務、大使館

-My mission in life is be a teacher and help educate the poor.

b. errand [ˈɛrənd] (n.) 差事、任務

-Can you run an errand to me?

+你可以幫我跑腿嗎？

c. task [tæsk] (n.) 任務、工作

-I finally finished the task that my boss assigned to me.

2. ambition 抱負

a. ambition [æmˈbɪʃən] (n.) 抱負

-His main ambition in life is become a billionaire.

b. ambitious [æmˈbɪʃəs] (adj.) 野心勃勃的

-I'm an ambitious person.

c. ambiguous [æmˈbɪɡjʊəs] (adj.) 含糊不清的、引起歧義的

-His reply to my question is quite ambiguous.

3. center 集中

a. center [ˈsentə] (v.) 集中

-She is the center of attention where ever she go.

b. core [kɔr] (n.) 核心、【美】(共修的)基礎課設置

-She is an American to the core.

-Each student studies four core subjects.

Then again, a mission is different from an ambition. An ambition starts with what you want. A mission centers around what others need.

話說回來，使命與野心不同，野心起始於你想要什麼，使命的核心圍繞在其他人需要什麼。