

Why Britain Loves Tea

today's issue:

—>.

1. royal 王的；王室的

a. royal [ˈrɔɪəl] (adj.) 王的；王室的

royal family 皇家；皇室

-Note that she is married to prince Harry. Meghan Markle is now part of the royal family

*royal flush 同花大順

b. royalty [ˈrɔɪəltɪ] (n.) 王室成員

-He always fly first class because he likes being treated like royalty.

2. habit 習慣

a. habit [ˈhæbɪt] (n.) 習慣

-Smoking is a bad habit.

-It takes twenty to start or break a habit.

b. habitual [həˈbɪtʃuəl] (adj.) 習慣的

-He got frustrated with his coworker's habitual lateness.

c. habitually [həˈbɪtʃuəli] (adv.) 習慣地；慣常地

-I would like to start meditating habitually.

-我想養成慣常地打坐習慣。

3. desperate 絕望的

a. desperate [ˈdɛspərɪt] (adj.) 絕望的

-I've lived to my hometown to my whole life and now I'm desperate (極度渴望的) for a change.

b. desperately [ˈdɛspərɪtli] (adv.) 絕望地

-She search desperately for her car keys and remember that she has a bus to work.

c. desperation [ˌdɛspəˈreɪʃən] (n.) 絕望

-She did not move out the curiosity or interest. She moved out of the desperation.

Catherine continued drinking tea to her heart's content. And as the new royal, everything about her, including her beverage habits, was copied by other ladies desperate to be just like their idol.

"凱薩琳皇后繼續盡情喝她的茶。身為新的皇室成員，所有關於凱薩琳皇后的一切，包含她的飲茶習慣，被其他女士爭相模仿，就為了與偶像一模一樣。